

Breakout: Energy Code Compliance and Education

Has your state conducted an energy code compliance field study?

Yes, within last 5 years

Yes, within last 10 years

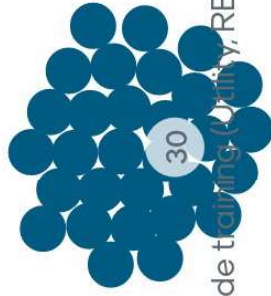

No, but planning one

No, not currently planning

Do you have any of the following energy code training or support activities in your jurisdiction?

Energy code training (Utility, REEO, other)

Energy code collaborative

Circuit rider (code expert hotline)

Home Builder Association sponsored trainings

Other (enter in chat)

What are the most important training needs in your jurisdiction?

Time and Funding

Ventilation

On-line

How to read the compliance software reports and compare them to plans correctly education

experienced educators

Trades, the people installing/constructing buildings diversity and inclusion

Building Science in general

What are the most important training needs in your jurisdiction?

commercial mechanical systems

Process and documentation to make things easy yet accurate value of the energy code

tracking of training

Code requirements

HBA buy in

Accepted (tested, trusted) tools and technology

Construction Implementation / Designer awareness of Energy Codes

Time off for training

What are the most important training needs in your jurisdiction?

Electrical--lighting controls

Integrated meeting with users, authorities, engineers etc.

EV/EVHS charging

alternate compliance

hands-on

Benefits of energy code compliance

Benefits of energy code

Trades

Compliance options and acceptable/approved methods.

What are the most important training needs in your jurisdiction?

Political Support

Governmental leadership

energy code

Commissioning

Code Education

Improve the methods of communication through out the state

Benefits of energy code compliance

shifting away from gas power to electric

The vast majority of building construction workers are Hispanic speakers... I never see training for them .

What are the most important training needs in your jurisdiction?

trades

Training Materials

Multifamily - air leakage needs

Benefits of energy code compliance

Trades, designers

